

We welcome the Icelandic National Delegation to the 14th NASF 2019

Inspired by Iceland

Fishing is an intrinsic part of Iceland's history and heritage. Since the country was first settled, Icelandic fishermen have braved the seas to bring home their catch. Fish was an important source of food, and laid the foundation of our economy. Respect for the ocean and its gifts is deeply ingrained in our culture, and the responsible management of marine resources is of fundamental importance to us. Therefore, Iceland is proud to be a leading nation in the world fishing industry, and an interesting business partner due to its high levels of knowledge, technology and services.

This year's National Delegation to NASF consists of 20 Icelandic companies representing the diversity of the country's seafood industry, key speakers addressing local topics with global resonance, and a special Icelandic seminar on DAY ZERO. The theme of the seminar is "Inspired by Iceland" with a focus on sustainability, quality and innovation in the seafood industry.

On behalf of the Icelandic delegation, I invite you to join our DAY ZERO seminar and come to our reception on March 6. Please visit our stand (No. 21, next to the main conference hall) for more information about the Icelandic delegation at NASF 2019.

See an overview of the participating companies in the Iceland delegation here.

We look forward to meeting you in Bergen and hope that you will be inspired by Iceland!

Kristjan Davidsson, member of the Icelandic National Delegation and NASF representative, Iceland